

BROOKWOOD community farm

The Brookwood Community Farm's mission is to build a farm-centered community that members call their own. Farm members are united by a shared passion for sustainable agriculture, fresh local food, and a commitment to increasing access to healthy food. Brookwood grows food sustainably for members through a community supported agriculture (CSA) model, provides on-farm educational and community-building opportunities, and actively supports food access projects.

SIGN UP FOR SUMMER CSA SHARE!

Brookwood's summer CSA share features the entire range of produce, starting with greens, beets, peas, cucumbers, and summer squash. It continues through the middle of the summer with tomatoes, green beans, eggplant, cherry tomatoes, potatoes, peppers, watermelons and many other vegetables. The share finishes with early fall favorites including winter squash, spinach, lettuce, carrots, kale, and more greens. The cost of the Summer Share is $350 for 13 weeks.
